

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES.

MARCH 22, 1880.—Ordered to be printed.

Mr. BAILEY, from the Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads, submitted the following

R E P O R T :

[To accompany bill S. 303.]

The Committee on Post-Offices and Post-Roads, to whom was referred the bill (S. 303) for the relief of George Hollingsworth, deputy postmaster at Greenton, Mo., ask leave to report :

That the post-office at Greenton, Mo., was robbed on the 28th of November, 1878, of postage-stamps of the value of forty dollars, which were afterwards found in possession of the guilty parties, and were delivered to the United States attorney for the western district of the State; and it appears from a letter addressed to the committee by a special agent of the Post-Office Department that Mr. Hollingsworth was without fault or blame.

The committee therefore recommend that the value of the stamps shall be paid to Mr. Hollingsworth, and recommend the passage of the bill.

IN SENATE

January 18, 1807

Mr. MONTGOMERY

of New York

presented

The Committee on Commerce, to which was referred a memorial from the Merchants of New York, praying that the duties on foreign goods imported into the United States might be reduced.

That they might be reduced to the same rate as the duties on domestic goods, and that the duties on foreign goods imported into the United States might be reduced to the same rate as the duties on domestic goods.

Read and referred to the Committee on Commerce.
